

HOW OFTEN HAVE YOU USED TECHNOLOGY?

Score yourself on each of the following items. OFTEN = 3; SOMETIMES = 2; RARELY = 1	SCORE
How often have you used technology to:
Be an empowered learner:
Articulate, set, and track personal learning goals.
Participate in a learning network.
Receive feedback on your work.
Explore new technologies.
Be a digital citizen:
Manage your digital identity and reputation.
Engage in positive, safe, legal and ethical behavior.
Demonstrate respect for the rights and obligations of using and sharing intellectual property.
Manage your personal data to maintain digital privacy and security.
Be a knowledge constructor:
Employ effective research strategies to locate information and other resources.
Evaluate the accuracy, perspective, credibility and relevance of information, media, data or other resources.
Curate information from digital resources.
Actively exploring real-world issues and problems.
Be an innovative designer:
Generate ideas, test theories, create innovative artifacts or solve authentic problems.
Plan and manage a design process that considers design constraints and calculated risks.
Develop, test and refine prototypes as part of a cyclical design process.
Demonstrate tolerance for ambiguity, perseverance and the capacity to work with open-ended problems.
Be a computational thinker:
Use technology-assisted methods for data analysis, abstract modeling, or algorithmic thinking.
Collect data or identify relevant data sets, use digital tools to analyze them, and represent data in various ways.
Break problems into component parts, extract key information, and develop models to facilitate problem-solving.
Use algorithmic thinking to develop a sequence of steps to create and test automated solutions.
Be a creative communicator:
Use appropriate platforms and tools for meeting communication needs.
Create original works or repurpose/remix digital resources into new creations.
Communicate complex ideas using a variety of digital objects such as visualizations, models, or simulations.
Publish or present content that customizes the message and medium for their intended audiences.
Be a global collaborator:
Use digital tools to connect with learners from a variety of backgrounds and cultures.
Use collaborative technologies to work with others, including peers, experts or community members.
Contribute to project teams.
Use collaborative technologies to work with others to investigate solutions to local and global issues.
